Anderson Sponsors Students at NAFTA Conference

June 11 and 12, Anderson students attended the 2009 NAFTA Institute Trade Conference in Sunland Park, New Mexico. The goal of the conference is to create relationships and foster trade between NAFTA partners. Anderson students had the opportunity to meet several keynote speakers from the government of the city of Juarez, Mexico. Students sat down for a one on one talk with the vice president of FOXCONN to discuss college graduates' role in the NAFTA Agreement.

Dr. Ernesto Sirolli - Anderson Presentation

Tues, June 16 - Dr. Sirolli discussed "Passion and the Trinity of Management", his theory that it is impossible for one individual to run a business successfully. Dr. Sirolli says business success requires equal amounts of skill and passion in the areas of production, marketing and finance. He says because no one is equally passionate about these three main aspects of running a business, the Sirolli Institute counsels a team approach to business development. A special thank you goes out to retired investment banker and Anderson supporter, Dick Forbes who was instrumental in bringing Dr. Sirolli to the Anderson School.
