

2nd Annual Recognition Celebration Honoring Women In Technology

The New Mexico Technology Council is currently preparing for the 2nd Annual Women in Technology Recognition Awards, to be hosted by Augusta Meyers. NMTC believes that inspiring more women to choose technology careers is critical to ensuring that our country can compete in the global economy, that we maximize opportunities for innovation, and that the technology industries are as diverse and creative as the people it serves.

The Program

We will have opening remarks from the New Mexico Secretary of Education, Veronica Chavez. The program will include a panel of women IT leaders from NM and beyond, each from a different industry or economic sector. Panel members will engage event participants in a lively discussion and Q&A of the future opportunities and challenges in IT. Our Panel includes Dr. Teresa Cullen, CIO of Indian Health Service; Jennifer Smith, Senior VP of SAIC; and Diane Bauer, Field Operations Manager, Cisco.

The Awards & Scholarships

Our Recognition Celebration Awards are aimed at recognizing the exceptional women in the State of New Mexico who are working in a technology field and who encourage other women to pursue careers and leadership roles in technology. Our scholarships go to deserving young woman in the State of New Mexico who can benefit from scholarship money and mentorship as she pursues or completes her education in technology.
