How to Complete Your Research Requirement

Welcome to the Department of Organizational Studies’ Research Participation Program (RPP)! This program allows you to participate as a subject in research projects conducted by faculty in the Department of Organizational Studies.

You must complete 2 research participation credits to satisfy this requirement, which is worth 5% of your overall course grade. Two options are available to earn research credits:

1. Participate as a subject in a research study conducted online or in person at the Anderson Behavioral Lab.
2. Read a published journal article and submit a short written review of that article.

A one-hour lab study is worth 1 research participation credit. Online studies may be worth either ½ or 1 credit depending on the length of the study. One journal article review is worth 1 research participation credit. Research participation credit hours may come from any combination of study participation or written reviews:

<td>1 Lab Study + 2, ½ credit online studies = 2 RPP Credits</td>
<td>1 Written Report + 1 Written Report = 2 RPP Credits</td>

Obtaining 2 research participation credits earns you an automatic 5% of your final class grade. NO class points are earned for completing only 1 research participation credit.

How do you participate in studies?

1. You will receive an e-mail (3rd week of semester) from SONA Systems, a web-based system that manages your research participation. Complete your registration following the instructions provided.
2. Complete a pre-screening survey following instructions described during your SONA registration.
3. Use SONA throughout the semester to view available studies and available timeslots.
4. Arrive on time. Participate. Receive research participation credit!

Note: Detailed instructions for writing research reviews are posted on your course website.

ADA: If you have a documented disability that may impact your ability to participate in the Research Participation Program, please contact asmbehavior@unm.edu to schedule an appointment to discuss your needs.

Where to go?

The student meeting area on the 2nd floor of the east side of ASM serves as the lab waiting area. Seat yourself at any of the tables just outside of ASM 2141. A research assistant will escort you to the lab at your scheduled session time.

When to Arrive?

Arrive at least 5 MINUTES EARLY for your lab session. A -1 research participation credit is assigned for missed sessions and late arrivals. If you need to cancel or reschedule, you may do this yourself via SONA Systems up to 24 hours in advance of your session. If you have an emergency that is less than 24 hours for your scheduled session, please e-mail us at asmbehavior@unm.edu. In this case, we require supporting documentation (e.g. doctor’s note) to avoid a penalty.
